GUY FAWKES...

With Guy Fawkes fast approaching it is imperative you get a good plan in place to protect your pet(s).

I think we often are guilty of seriously underestimating how scared animals get of fireworks. PLEASE keep them indoors, let them hide somewhere they feel safe until the noise stops., consider having soothing music in the background.

In the case of outdoor animals such as rabbits and guinea pigs, please move the hutch to somewhere away from the sights and sounds of the fireworks, rabbits especially

Fur Shedding Alert

Get those grooming brushes out!!

Both cats and dogs are starting to shed like mad with the warmer weather. Try your best to give them a brush each day, this helps to reduce the incidence of fur balls, and matting/ knotting of the fur.

are naturally quite nervous animals so extra precautions should be taken.

Give us a call if you are really worried about your pet, we can discuss options to ease anxiety.

It is a good time to consider how identifiable your animal is, in the event they run away.

Do they have a collar with a tag including a phone number?

Are they micro-chipped and is that chip registered on the New Zealand Companion Animal Register? Have a great time this Guy Fawkes but remember your first responsibility comes to the animals you own. Keep them safe.
